

Larry Burback, Principal, Sage Alliance Partners

Larry is the Director of Sage's outdoor leadership and team learning programs and lead consultant for client engagements. Larry has over 35 years of experience in training individuals, teams and organizations to achieve high performance. Over the course of his career Larry has personally worked with thousands of individuals in both large and small group workshops and one-on-one coaching sessions.

Larry was a co-founder of Sportsmind, which conducted some of the initial research upon which key elements of our high performance team philosophy is based.

A life-long athlete, Larry competed in college football at Lewis & Clark, international rugby, the rodeo circuit, marathons, and triathlons, having finished more than eighty, including twelve Ironman competitions. Larry Lives in Seattle, Washington with his wife Mary, loves Led Zeppelin, Jimi Hendrix and Erik Clapton – and refuses to tiptoe through life in to arrive at death safely.